

Ohio-Campbell Free

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Tonight practically closes the debate in Ohio for the election of county and state officers. Six tickets are before the people. The registration in all the large cities is abnormally large for an election of this kind. How the vote will be distributed between McLean, Nash and Jones is not easy to predict at the close of the campaign. Ohio has long been a strong republican state, since 1888, when Campbell (dem) defeated Foraker (rep) for governor by over 19,000 votes, the republicans have carried the state for governor by pluralities ranging from $1,000 to $2,000. Hence at the beginning of the campaign it was fairly conceded that Nash would be elected. The element that distorts all calculations is the novel candidacy of Samuel M. Jones, the non-partisan candidate. His plausibility, but he earned the nomination by any party convention and none before the people as a non-partisan candidate by virtue of petitions from the required number of voters to have his name on the official ballot. Unconvinced by party allegiance or party platform, Jones has made a vigorous campaign and has created enough apprehension among both democrats and republicans to make the whole situation uncertain. It is generally conceded that his vote will be considerable and the question is, from which party will he take the most votes? The republicans have made a vigorous campaign, with the leading idea that the president must be sustained in his Philippine policy. The democrats have made a fight against trusts and especially against Senator Hanna. It does not appear that the gold democrats of 1896 will help the republicans this year and the democrats are practically united, while the republicans have personal factional fights in Cincinnati, Cleveland and other places. With these conditions prevailing it is impossible to do more than to pronounce the result in doubt. The Jones strength is admitted to be greatest in cities and factory towns where large numbers of working men are employed.

CAMPAIGN IN MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—The state campaign in Massachusetts has been more than ordinarily dull, even for an off year, the republicans being confident of victory and the democrats only hopeful of making a better showing than last fall.

Whatever life has been insuflated into the contest has come from the democratic side. State issues have been thrown to the winds and both sides have confined themselves to arguments for and against expansion, the silver question being rarely mentioned. The republican candidate for governor is W. Murray Crane, the millionaire paper manufacturer, and the democratic candidate is Robert Trendall, who is a descendant of the revolutionary leader of that name and is well known for his connection with reform and philanthropic work.

The state senator from the Greenfield district, Herbert C. Parsons, is anti-personalist, who declined to vote last spring for the re-election of United States senator Lodge, was refused a renomination this year and is running independently. This contest, and the coming back into the democratic fold of many of the former Whig democrats, are among the interesting features of the campaign.

A. H. Goettin, chairman of the republican state committee, says: "Our problem has been to get the people to go to the polls. We have been obliged to fight the argument that the contest this year is only one of majorities."

William S. McNary, secretary of the democratic state committee says:

"The principal issues of the campaign have been imperialism and trust and the policy of President McKinley. On these questions the Massachusetts democracy presents this year a united front. We are confident that we have gained votes, while the republican party will lose many votes on these questions."

CAMPAIGN IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—The personality of William Goebel has been the principal theme of discussion in the campaign which will end next Tuesday in the election of a full slate ticket. The republicans in the fight for their ticket, which is headed by W. S. Taylor, present attorney general, have directed their energies mainly against the democratic leader and the policies which have become associated with his name, notably the Goebel election law and the present statute affecting railroads. Mr. Goebel is also antagonized by a faction of his own party which placed in nomination a state ticket by John Young Brown. This element under the name of the "honest election league" has waged a bitter personal campaign against Goebel, assailing his conduct in the convention which nominated him for his entire career in the state's politics and the Goebel election law.

Senator Lindsey, ex-Senator J. C. S. Blackburn is an avowed candidate for this place and has stamped the state with candidate Goebel.

Tuesday's contest at the polls is expected to be exciting and very close.

The Omaha World Herald is great as a daily paper, and it is also a "sheet" as a weekly paper. It is a semi-weekly, because it is published twice a week so as to give the news more frequently, contains all the news of the day besides a large amount of miscellany, a good agricultural department and elaborate reports on the stock and grain market.

Pictures of the Foster parades—seen in the postoffice, some of the pictures are first class.

THE WAY TO WIN A WOMAN.

A man must fight to win a woman. It is not always a duel with rapiers that he must engage in. Sometimes it is a struggle which on the surface appears to be far more peaceful than any battle at arms. It isn't the soldier only who must be brave. Men need courage to succeed anywhere in life. A mechanic or a farmer needs "grit" in his soul as well as on his hands. In whatever line of work a man is called upon to make his way in the world he must show pluck and steady, persevering determination if he expects to win and hold a worthy woman's affection.

A woman judges a man from appearances. If he is energetic and forcible she doesn't always stop to reason why. She looks like the Spanish senorita at her window and applauds the man who fights bravely. He may win, he may lose, but he must never flag. He must fight.

A man doesn't always do himself justice. He may make a bad showing when he really isn't to blame. It is common to say of a man who is timid and incapable that he is "white livered." Sometimes this is literally true, yet not any reproach to a man either. Many a man with a brave, willing heart for his work acts at times like a lazy "quitter," just because his liver is out of order. It is the commonest kind of a disease.

A man doesn't know what is the matter with him, he feels all the strength and energy going out of him. He can't work, he can't eat, he can't sleep, he can't even think clearly. He loses heart and courage and flesh, pretty soon he feels it in his lungs.

The doctors call it consumption and prescribe lung specific. But what the man needs is a medicine to go deep down into the foundations of the trouble; clear the poison out of his blood, wake up his liver, purify, revitalize and build up his system from the foundation-stone. He needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which has cured innumerable cases of obstinate liver complaint which the doctor diagnosed as hopeless consumption.

The work of this masterful "Discovery" begins at the very corner-stone of life in the stomach and nutritive organism. It gives appetite, nourishment, rich blood, healthy, solid flesh. A cough is only a symptom; there are other things that make the cough; they must be got rid of first, the cough may be the last thing to go away.

Dr. Pierce's marvelous "Discovery" isn't a lung specific; but it does more than any such specific can ever do. It sweeps out of the blood all the foul disease germs that lodge in the lungs and original consumption; it heals and builds up the delicate tissues and imbues the entire system with strength and active energy.

The fact is well established that the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures weak lungs, bleeding from lungs, obstinate, lingering coughs, laryngitis, bronchitis, throat disease, and kindred afflictions of the air-passages, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to consumption.

Many thousands of well established cures of such cases are reported by the most trustworthy citizens. Many of these cases had been pronounced consumption—and incurable by the best local physicians before the sufferers commenced the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is recognized everywhere as the greatest of nerve and strength builders for weak and ailing women. His "Pleasant Pellets" are acknowledged as the most perfect natural laxative ever prescribed.

Out of his lifetime experience as a practicing physician and professor of physiology, Dr. Pierce has compiled a wonderful thousand page book, illustrated with over 200 drawings and several colored plates. It is entitled the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, and is a complete family medical library in one volume. Nearly seven hundred thousand copies were sold at $1.50 each.

Dr. Pierce considered the profit on this sale warranted him in issuing a free edition, and a paper-bound copy will now be sent absolutely free for the bare cost of mailing at one-cent stamps, or in heavier French-cloth covers for 3¢ stamps. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. Only one copy will be sent to one family. It should be in every family in the land.

The Omaha Weekly World Herald has made quite a hit with its illustrations. It has of late introduced a humorous page which is interesting to all members of the family, even the children.

If interested in horses, cows or sheep, take the Farm Journal. We will give this paper for the balance of 1899 and all of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, nearly five years, to all subscribers, new or old, who pay for the Oklahama Weekly Leader a year ahead. This offer is for a short time only.

Revenue Decision

Washington, Nov. 4.—Commissioner Wilson, of the internal revenue bureau, has decided that when banks loan money without taking promissory notes, and specified collateral are pledged as security for a certain and definite sum of money as evidence and entries on bank's loan books, etc., a tax accrues as a pledge.

The question came up on a case in Philadelphia. When a specific loan is desired, the borrower either signs an application for a loan or makes a verbal request for a loan, at the same time submitting collateral which he desires to pledge as security for the loan. Upon approval by the proper official of the bank to whom the borrower has applied for a loan, the paying teller either gives the borrower or cashier's check for the amount of credit with the amount of the loan. The collateral which the borrower has pledged are placed in an envelope, on the outside of which said collateral are listed.

The loan in detail is entered on the book of the bank and such other entries are made on the books as necessary. This is stated, is the general method pursued by the banks in Philadelphia as well as the banks in New York and elsewhere.

In some instances no application for a loan is signed, and the collaterals are not listed on the outside of the envelope in which they are placed, but in all cases the collaterals pledged for any loan are either listed in detail on the outside of the envelope in which they are placed or on the loan book of the bank making the loan, but in no instance is the promissory note used.

In a letter to the revenue agent at Philadelphia, Commissioner Wilson says: "You are advised that in determining whether there are any taxable features in the manner of making loans as herein described, the continuing agreement should not be considered, as it does not refer to any single transaction between the bank and the borrower, but merely defines the relative rights of the bank and the borrower. It is not a pledge, and is, therefore, not subject to taxation as such, nor does it embody a power of attorney.

Under the paragraph of schedule A, beginning with the words "mortgage or pledge", a tax is imposed on any pledge or personal property where same shall be made as a security for the payment of any money lent at the time and this notice holds that when certain collaterals are evidence by the endorsement on envelopes hereinafter referred to, or by the entries in the loan book, the bank or both are pledged by the borrower to secure a certain and definite sum of money, this pledge is subject to taxation under the paragraph of schedule A, above referred to, at the rate of 10 cents for each $100 or fraction thereof in excess of $100 of the amount secured."

An Important Announcement.

We desire to call the personal and immediate attention of each and every one of our readers to the exceptional terms upon which we are prepared to offer the representative journal of agriculture, Farm and Home, in connection with this paper.
